WHAT IT MEANS.

Richmond, the capital of the late Confederacy has been decorated with emblems of the "Lost Cause."

When the boxes containing the bronze monument of Gen. Robert E. Lee were removed from the cars, no flags of the Union ornamented the procession. Only the stars and bars could be seen, the "rebel yell," under the folds of the flag of seces sion which waved proudly after twenty-five years rent the air.

However, all vocal expressions of disloyalty to the Union were carefully discarded. The honoring of the Confederacy was indulged in while every one in that joyous throng stood ready to declare to you that the South was right and the North was wrong. "Not beaten but overpowered," they would say.

But what does this display of Confederate emblems mean?

What does it serve to teach the rising generations of the South? Why this placing of Lee on equality with Washington, Jackson with Marion and Stuart with "Light Horse Harry" of other days.

This glorification of States Rights Doctrine-the right of secession, and the honoring of men who represented that cause, fosters in this Republic, the spirit of Rebellion and will ultimately result in handing down to treason and blood.

There is lacking in all this display the proper appreciation of the Union. There is evidence that the loyalty oft-expressed penetrates no deeper than the surface.

It serves to reopen the wound of war and cause to drift further apart the two sections. It furnishes an opportunity for designing politicians in both political parties to take ad vantage of the situation and the country suffers. The South in its efforts to be true to its leaders goes too far in its adulation, and while doing them no good, do their respective sections much harm.

An Open Letter to the Editors and Publishers of the Richmond Dispatch and the Daily Times.

RICHMOND, Va., May 28, 1890.

In these days it is very hard to teach young men proper respect for women. In order to be at all successful, we must have "line upon line, and precept upon precept"we must not only teach men this respect, but we must respect women ourselves, and strive to have every one do thesame. This, many of the Colored people are try-to do. They teach their young men that they should respect all women, and as a sign of respect, they should address unmarried women as Miss and married ones as Mrs. Not that these titles make women better, but because they show that users are gentlemen, and in this instance, at least, have been properly trained. We find our task hard work at least, and it is especially hard, since your papers teach those of our young men and women, who read them impospect of colored men for colored women, you weaken their respect for all women, and you sow seeds in the minds of young colored men, and in minds of young colored men, and ment the minds of young white men as well, which will eventually ripen into rude and disrespectful conduct towards the women of all races. The man who respects a colored woman, will be more than apt to respect a white woman, and vice versa.

Again, in articles which appeared in your papers a few months ago it was said well and wisely, that no race can be anything, until it learns to respect itself. That is just what we believe, and for that very reason we are doing all that we can to teach generations unborn a legacy of love for themselves, and their race, but here also your papers are destroying what we are trying to build up; for in speaking of the Negro race, your papers, (and many others), invarably spell the word Negro with a small letter; this is in violation to all laws of Rhetoric, and in violation of the principle which you ladvocate. You use the capitals in spelling the name, of all other races; in speaking of the Indian you always spell the name with a capital. The Negro alone in this country, out-number the Indians ten to one. The Negroes have done more for the good of this country in the last 25 years, than all of the Indians during the last 250 years. The Negroes are more nearly civilized than the In-dians; the Negroes in this country are worth more in property and cash than the Indians; the Negroes are the friends of the White man, while the Indians are his enemy, and yet, in speaking of this race-your enemies, you treat it with more respect than you do the Negroes, your friends. Why this violation of all laws of Rhetoric; why this outrage of all sense of propriety: why this trampling of the weak by the strong? Have Virginia Editors and news paer grow weary or discouraged in per publishers lost their sense of hon-

We are confident that if you gen ers are rejoicing, and others reinforctlemen possess the genuine old Virnia sense of honor and chivalry, that you are believers in respect for women, and protection for the weak, and that you are willing to obey God's word, and willing to help us in our struggle to teach our sons and daughters respect for women of every race, and love and respect for themselves and for their race. This you can do, (and we hope you will do) W. L. Brown, C. Goodloe, A. Truart, by speaking of our unmarried women as Miss, and our married women
